Christmas cheer in the form of Christmas Savings Club Checks will be delivered to the homes of 4,693 coast residents by the mailman on Friday. The checks will represent $434,544.13 in savings by club members.

The amount of savings and number of club members for 1959 broke the previous high mark set last year of $403,134.00.

Christmas Club accounts are available in the following categories: at Hancock Banks: 25c, 50c, $1.00, $2.00, $3.00, $5.00 and $10.00. Deposits may be made at the banks in Gulfport, Long Beach, Gulfport Northwest, Long Beach, Mississippi City, Pass Christian or Bay St. Louis.

Many people authorize the bank to transfer a certain amount each week from their regular checking account while others sign up for the Payroll Deduction Plan each week through their employer. The Payroll Deduction Plans are voluntary on the part of business concern.

The bank has been promoting the Clubs since 1950 with an increase in participation every year. Since 1949, the Club has increased its annual volume by over $100,000,000. The program has become as the record shows, increasingly popular and today is not only for Christmas Savings but to save funds for taxes, end bills, insurance premiums and to start a new savings bank.

The Bank was an early pioneer in promoting the concept of the Christmas Savings Clubs. In 1914, five years ago, the project was first undertaken by the Hancock Bank, continuing annually with the exception of the World War years when the savings were converted for the purchase of Liberty Bonds.

The 1960 Christmas Savings Club began on Monday, November 1, and will continue through December 31.

Oil Well Brought In Here

A new oil field in Hancock County was put in production Saturday night by Marshall R. Young, independent operator, who also was the discoverer in Ansley Field.

The latest production is the Young No. 1 Jourdan Acre Ranch wildcat located in Section 35-7S-15W, just off the Kiln road.

The land owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Taylor of New Orleans, had been on the market for the past two years.

The well was completed from only one foot of the 44 foot thick sand perforated at 10,291 feet. The electric logs showed a 77 per cent water content in the production sand but the crew was able to keep this cased off and the flow Sunday was pure pipeline oil, which is expected to gauge out at 38 gravity or higher.

Young also has holdings in the Ansley Field which is producing gas and condensate.

Plans for additional development of the new find are not known at this time, but the second location was reported to be approximately one and one-half miles south of the discovery.

As soon as the present tank job is completed, the men are expected to get the rig in shape to move.

INFLUENZA IN MISSISSIPPI

Local occurrences of influenza in Mississippi will probably reach epidemic proportions in the months ahead. As a protection against this winter-time illness, vaccination is recommended. The influenza vaccine currently on the market is potent and reliable and gives protection against all strains of influenza presently occurring. In addition, controlled studies indicate vaccination decreases the incidence of all respiratory infections by as much as 65 per cent. Immunization is strongly recommended for certain population segments that are serious influenza risks.

COTTON PICKING NEARLY ENDED

Farmers in the Oklawaha-Tunica area were expecting 610 pounds of lint per acre. The November forecast is for a statewide average of 535 pounds per acre.

Paul Thomas Lombardo, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lombardo, was fatally injured Saturday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle.

The patrolmen stated Necaise said his car was within a few yards of the bicycle when it suddenly veered into the path of the automobile.

The child was taken to Hancock County Hospital where he died shortly after arrival.

In addition to his parents, survivors include two brothers, John Michael and Timothy Lombardo; three sisters, Gloria Ann, Jackie Marie and Margaret Jane Lombardo; his grandfather, Angelo J. Lombardo, Bay St. Louis and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Henley of Pearl River, La.

Want Flemming To Assure Public Berries Safe

Washington — Cranberry producers asserted that their products now on the market are safe to eat. They called Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming to give that reassurance to the American public.

CANNED SAUCE

Ambrose E. Stevens, general manager of a cooperative which he said represents 75 percent of the cranberry crop, said canned cranberry sauce now on store shelves was made from berries harvested in 1958.

Neither the Food and Drug Administration nor producers, Stevens said, have any reason to believe that last year's crop was improperly treated in any manner with the weed killer Aminotriazole.

"The very careful restrictions made by us on fresh berries also indicate that 10 million pounds of fresh cranberries in grocery stores are also entirely pure," Stevens added.

DETECT WEED KILLER

Traces of the weed killer, which has been found to cause cancer in rats, have been detected in some lots of cranberries.

This discovery prompted Flemming to caution the public last week on what he called the possible hazard in eating the favorite Thanksgiving and Christmas season sauce unless it could be identified as coming from a safe area. Stevens at a conference called by Flemming presented a five-point industry program designed to relieve Americans of any worry.

Stevens, representing Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc., said his growers had been forbidden Sept. 18 to use the questioned herbicide on their cranberry properties in any form, despite approval by the Department of Agriculture for use after harvest.

Flemming's stated purpose in setting up meetings was to separate the clean berries from those which have been contaminated. So far the only method has been painstaking and slow chemical testing of each batch.

Miss. Southern College Designated For National Teachers' Examinations

Hattiesburg, Miss. — Mississippi Southern College has been designated as a testing center for the 1960 nationwide administration of the National Teacher Examination next February, Dr. Ralph S. Owings, Dean of the School of Education and Psychology, announced today.

College seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for positions in school systems which encourage or require applicants to submit their scores on the National Teacher Examination along with their other credentials are eligible to take the tests. The examinations are prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey.

The designation of Mississippi Southern College as a testing center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examination with the approximately 30,000 candidates throughout the country who will be participating in the nationwide administration on February 13, 1960, Dr. Owings said.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in Professional Information, General Culture, English Expression, and Nonverbal Reasoning. In addition, each candidate may take

38th Annual Meeting Of Mississippi Farm Bureau Held Last Week

Nearly a thousand folks from Mississippi farms were in Jackson last week for the 38th annual meeting of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation. They came from all 82 counties, representing every farm community now produced in the state.

Why were they here? What did they do? In short, what is the "Farm Bureau" and how does it fit into the pattern of organizations that we know? Farm Bureau is to the farmer what a chamber of commerce is to a town business man or what a medical association is to a physician. It is his professional organization—created by farmers nearly four decades ago as farmers all over the United States decided to seek united action against common problems. Farm Bureau remains just that today—no more, or less.

And that's why farmers went to Jackson last week. They took with them their problems in the form of county Farm Bureau recommendations to be considered by all delegates there. Of course the annual meeting had its human interest moments too as many rural contests came to a head at the annual banquet and individuals and young people were cited and recognized for outstanding performances in various competitions such as a king and queen contest, a talent and speech contest, a quartet contest, a dress making and modeling contest for the ladies, and a distinguished service award went to a farmer whose contribution to his fellow man was most outstanding.

As these Farm Bureau united farmers went home Thursday afternoon they had reviewed as a delegates body all of their significant problems and described them in written form along with suggestions for their improvement. These "resolutions" are the backbone of Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation activity in the year ahead.

The Farm Bureau has made an indelible mark on Mississippi history. Most of this mark is found on the state's lawbooks in the form of sponsored legislation. For instance, forestry is especially important to fourth Mississippi landowners and farmers. In recent years the Farm Bureau has pushed for legislation that has established a 4-year school of forestry at Mississippi State University. It has urged and supported legislation to more adequately protect our forests against fire and theft, or more specifically, it has enabled private landowners to use state owned fire protection equipment by merely paying a rental on it.

For the row crop farmer, Farm Bureau has helped defeat an amendment to sales tax laws which would have removed fertilizer, seed, insecticides, from the exempt list. Farmers find it economically necessary to protect such "production supplies" or raw materials from the state's retail sales tax. Along this same line, livestock and poultry feed were once taxed, but farmers protested through Farm Bureau of having to pay a retail sales tax on their raw materials and it was removed by the state legislature, thus saving Mississippi farmers an estimated $1½ million each year.

Yes, farmers seek what they want and need in their economy through organized effort in the form of Farm Bureau. Then, nationally, there's the American Farm Bureau Federation which amplifies state efforts in the legislative field. Today, farmers as a minority group fight through a united voice for a good farm program administered by the government. They urge better research, better markets, and back up their recommendations with action. For instance the American Farm Bureau Federation has recently established a World Trade Center in the Netherlands with samples of farm commodities that are available for export and representatives to arrange export sales.

Farm Bureau seeks to improve the rural way of life, whether it be through passing statutes to outlaw "dumping" of garbage along rural roadides or a bill to provide for legal removal of incompetent county officials.

That's the kind of thing these farm folks were up to in Jackson last week!

One or two of the eleven Optional Examinations which are designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter in the fields in which he may be assigned to teach.

Applications for the examination and a Bulletin of Information containing registration procedures and training representative and procedures may be obtained from Dr. Ralph S. Owings, Dean of the School of Education and Psychology, Mississippi Southern College, Hattiesburg, Miss. 39401. The Mississippi Forestry Association elected officers for 1960 at its annual meeting in Jackson. Left to right are: R. S. Taggart, Crosby, President; D. V. Logan, Natchez, vice-president; A. Ray Tillman, Jackson, treasurer; and Ben M. Stevens, Jr., Richton, outgoing president. The MFA is an organization of individuals and companies interested in better forestry.

Slower Tempo For Interstate Systems Seen By AAA Official

Although threat of a complete disruption of construction on the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways has been averted, the program will go forward at a rate substantially lower than originally planned, according to S. F. Magnuson, General Manager, MSA Automobile Club, AAA.

He reported that Mississippi had been granted a total of $19,344,000 for the current 1960 fiscal year and $19,566,350 for the year beginning next July 1.

"For the nation as a whole," Mr. Magnuson said, "the total federal contribution to the system for the current year has been cut from $2.5 billion to $1.9 billion; and for next year from an original authorization of $2.2 billion to $1.8 billion.

"Although the total amounts to be distributed to the states, representing the federal government's 90 percent share of the construction costs are the same for both fiscal years, there is variation in amounts to the individual states. Bureau of Public Roads officials explain that this reflects the degree of progress in the several states and adjustments have been made to encourage lagging states to get caught up.

Major reason for the cut-back is the depletion of the Highway Trust Fund established to finance the entire federal-aid program and financed only by revenues derived from certain automotive excise taxes—most particularly the gasoline tax which was raised from 3 to 4 cents effective October 1.

"This slowdown, of course, will further complicate the problems to be faced by Congress when, in 1961, it tackles the problem of long-range financing for the system in such a manner as to insure its completion somewhere near the original target date of 1972."

Two Men Elected From Hancock County To Forestry Assn. Directors

Ralph S. Taggart of Crosby, was elected 1960 president of the Mississippi Forestry Association at its 21st annual meeting held at the King Edward Hotel in Jackson. Taggart has served as a director, treasurer and vice-president of the MFA.

A graduate of Washington and Lee University, Mr. Taggart is vice-president of Crosby Lumber and Manufacturing Company.

Elected vice-president was D. V. Logan, International Paper Co., Natchez. A Ray Tillman, First National Bank, Jackson, was re-elected treasurer.

A new Executive Committee was elected as follows: R. C. Allen, Philadelphia; Wayne Burrage and Davis L. Fair, Jr., both of Louisville; James R. Clark, Crosby; James W. Craig, W. W. May and John W. Squires, all of Jackson; T. H. Harris, Laurel; Marion Stephens, Columbia; and Ben M. Stevens, Jr., Richton.

Among the directors elected by the membership during the Business Session to serve during 1960 are from Hancock County: Leo Seal and Roland Weston, both of Bay St. Louis.

STATE AGRICULTURAL ECONOMY GAINING

Our agricultural income is steadily rising. The change in land uses has increased the forest potential by 70,000 acres a year. The not annual growth of softwoods is 50 per cent greater than 10 years ago. Hardwoods are also improving. Mississippi leads the entire nation in the number of certified tree farms. Corn yields continue to rise. The state has three million acres in permanent pasture to accommodate our expanding livestock production. Beef, hogs, sheep, and broilers are becoming more important in our farm economy. Higher yields of cotton are being produced more economically through research.

MFA Membership And Guests Welcomed By Gov.-Elect Ross Barnett

The MFA membership and guests were welcomed at the noon luncheon by Governor-elect Ross Barnett. Presiding was Ben M. Stevens, Jr. of Richton, MFA President.

Principal speaker was Wayne A. Johnston, of Chicago, president of the Illinois Central Railroad. Johnston said that nationally the consumption of timber is running ahead of replacement but that Mississippi is now growing as much timber as is being cut.

He named timber growing as one of many good things that have come to Mississippi in recent years including better schools, better local government and more industries.

Johnston said that the country's population "may very well reach 180 millions by next year, 1960." This exploding population, he pointed out, will need more of everything including more timber.

The railroad president expressed pride in the ICRR forestry department's contribution to accomplishments made in putting many of Mississippi's idle acres to work growing trees.

Johnston said that the Illinois Central, like the Mississippi Forestry Association has been preaching the gospel that the state's forests could make an even greater contribution to the economy if a larger portion of wood raw material

American Legion AUXILIARY

Sharon Monti won the attendance prize.

Refreshments were served by Mesdames Louis Moreau and Mrs. Clarence Schindler.

Senior members attending the meeting were Mesdames E. Neale, Gilbert Gayaut, Lynn Rutherford, Gordon Romanoff and John Rutherford, Jr.

A large beautifully decorated red, white and blue cake was cut with appropriate ceremony by president Mrs. Gilbert Gayaut and First Vice-Commander, R. J. Reinike.

A humorous style show under the direction of Mrs. Claiborne Ladner and narrated by Mrs. Luke Benigno proved to be an hilarious event. Mrs. Russell Elliott, Guy Bufkin, R. J. Reinike, Gilbert Gayaut, John Wilkerson, Rene Bernond Sr., James Pfeiffer, Gordon Romanoff and Claiborne Ladner were models.

was manufactured into finished products within Mississippi.

He predicted that more and more industries will come to the state drawn here by the "green of Mississippi's forests."

Kern-Mitchell Marriage Vows Exchanged Here Saturday

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH E. KERN

Our Lady of the Gulf Church was the setting Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Miss Janelle Martha Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Argle Clarence Mitchell, to Mr. Joseph Emile Kern, son of Mrs. Margaret Kern and the late Mr. Joseph Kern.

The Rev. Father Kevin Reid officiated at the 3 o'clock double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white mums and gladioli. Tall baskets of white blossoms and greenery trimmed the sanctuary.

The bride entered the church with her father who gave her in marriage. Her bridal gown, magnolia white of pure silk organza over duchess tulle featured a softly rounded neckline and long sleeves. The neckline of the fitted bodice was trimmed with Alencon lace and medallions of the lace in a floral pattern caught the fullness of the skirt at the sides of the fitted waistline. The very full skirt terminated in a full court train. Her finger-tip veil of imported illusion was held by a small Alencon lace cap and she carried a star-shaped bouquet of white feathered fugi mums and white roses centered with a white orchid.

The bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Blaize of Bay St. Louis and Miss Sigrid Boulmuy, of New Orleans, wore street length frocks of de-lustered emerald green satin fashioned with fitted bodice, rounded necklines and bell shaped skirts. They wore matching head bandeaux featuring a bow and short veils, matching slippers. Their cascade bouquets combined feathered bronze fugi mums, English ivy and oak leaves.

Mr. Orlan Lockhart of New Orleans was Mr. Kern's best man and Gerald Kahn of New Orleans was groomsmen. Serving as ushers were Peter Chapman and T. A. Monti.

White mums and gladioli trimmed the Bay-Waveland Yacht

"The Black Tent" At Legion Theatre, Gulfport, Fri. Saturday

Anna Marie Sandri, curly haired actress, first British film in the rank Organization's "The Black Tent" was in Libya with co-stars Anthony Steel and Donald Sinden to film location shots. As the daughter of the Bedouin sheik in the Technicolor-Vista Vision production which opens at the Legion Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 3, 4 and 5, she was to appear in a wedding sequence.

Director Brian Desmond Hurst arranged for her to be invited to an actual ceremony which was taking place some 150 miles out of Tripoli. Also invited was Beatrice Dawson, dress designer, to ensure that every detail of clothing was correct.

The Sheik of the Kabilat, whose daughter was to be married, greeted them when they arrived. They sat on rugs some 30 yards from where the ceremony was to be performed. The men and veiled women of the camp stared at them (an unveiled woman is something of a novelty to the desert tribesmen.)

At the start of the ceremony the bride wasn't present. She was seated with her bridal attendants in another part of the camp and remained there throughout the ceremony.

"The entire ceremony," said Anna Marie when she returned, "seemed to consist of the bride's father handing the groom a wedding ring and after several words from the priest... called a Kadi... the bride and groom were man and wife."

However before the couple are brought together, the menfolk of the tribe settle down to feasting and entertainment, consisting of dancing girls, singers and acrobats. While all this is going on, the bride goes to the village oasis pool and is bathed. After that she returns to the camp and the groom gets his chance to bathe.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Blanchard were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Burns and sons, Wally Jr. and Timothy and their daughter, Mrs. James Grace and daughter, Ellen and Mrs. Blanchard's sister, Mrs. Marcia Sbis of New Orleans.

On their return from a wedding trip to Panama City, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Kern will make their home in Bay St. Louis.

The bride, a graduate of St. Joseph Academy, attended Mississippi Southern College at Hattiesburg and is employed at the Hancock Bank in Gulfport.

Mr. Kern graduated from Saint Stanislaus and Mississippi Southern College and is affiliated with his mother in Kern's 5 and 10c Store.
